

US WURK L (2001), p. 85

[0775] IT IS SJESA GELEGEN: PRESINTATIVE FERSTERKING FAN DEMONSTRATIVE ILEMINTEN YN IT WESTERLAUWERSK FRYSK, IT SEALTERSKE EN OARE TALEN

Jarich Hoekstra

Summary

This article deals with some aspects of presentative intensification of demonstratives in Frisian and other languages. Modern West Frisian shows the beginnings of the development of a paradigm of demonstratives (i.e. demonstrative pronouns and adverbs) intensified by the presentative sjuch 'look'. Saterlandic, an East Frisian dialect, presents an even clearer example of this phenomenon; here we find a fullfledged paradigm of demonstratives intensified by ke- (from the presentative kiek 'look'). Similar instances of presentative intensification of demonstratives can be found in other Germanic and non-Germanic languages. The properties and the development of such intensified demonstratives are discussed in some detail.

0. Oanrin

Fersille foarbylden út 'e Nijfryske literatuer suggerearje dat der yn it Westerlauwersk Frysk oansetten west ha ta it foarmjen fan in paradigma fan demonstrative ileminten fersterke troch it presintative sjuch. Yn dit artikel besprek ik in stikmannich aspekten fan it ferskynsel fan presintative fersterking fan demonstrativen yn it Frysk en oare talen. Alderearst jou ik in koarte beskriuwing fan it demonstrative systeem fan it Frysk (paragraaf 1). Dan be-